Daikin Introduces the Daikin ENVi Wi-Fi Enabled Programmable Thermostat

Carrollton, TX – (May 21, 2013) – Daikin AC has introduced the ultimate in-home comfort convenience, the new web-enabled Daikin ENVi intelligent thermostat for use with single- and multi-split systems. The Daikin ENVi is accessible via the web for monitoring, schedule and setpoint changes, alerts, and service reminders. The high-resolution color LCD screen is backlit for easy visibility with bold graphics and easy-to-navigate buttons making the Daikin ENVi more user-friendly than typical programmable thermostats. The Daikin ENVi also offers users a live weather forecast function and equipment operation reports. Dealers are provided a contractor portal for accessing their customer's system reports and alerts for remote troubleshooting. Both the user and Dealer can automatically receive emails if an error or alert condition exists.

Each Daikin ENVi is offered with a free, secure, personalized web environment to view and manage all aspects of comfort system operation. More information about the Daikin ENVi is available through the website www.DaikinENVi.com. Free Daikin ENVi apps are available for iOS (iPhone/iPad), Android, and Blackberry. The Daikin ENVi delivers in July 2013.
